GILBERT PARKER

AUTHOR OF
"THE SEATS OF THE MIGHTY"
"THE RIGHT OF WAY"

ANYONE who has read the fascinating romances by Parker knows what it is to find him at his strongest, as in this tale.

The setting is Ireland, England, the Atlantic Ocean and the West Indies, with some connections which carry it to the shores of America, during the stirring days of the French Revolution.

The story has a dramatic sweep of action that is irresistible. The author with penetrating insight and great artistry, has contrasted the Irish and English temperaments; as a result, many deft and tragic-humorous touches enliven the tale.

In all respects a very unusual romance, we have selected it for serial reproduction in these columns. Regular readers are requested to watch for it and others should subscribe now in order not to miss the first installment.

First installment of the above story will appear next week.

Foley's Money and Tar

AN OLD RELIABLE FAMILY REMEDY, recommended for coughs, colds, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe, and bronchitis, coughs, hoarseness, etc.

The First Dose Gave Relief
C. E. Summers, Hildred, Neb., writes: "My wife and I contracted a very severe cough and cold due to exposure. My cough got so bad I could not sleep for two or three nights. A friend of mine recommended Foley's Money and Tar. I bought a bottle and I got a little better. The very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose twice daily and in a few days I was completely cured. I feel as if I should say to all who are afflicted with any of the above troubles, try Foley's Money and Tar. It will cure you and give you permanent recovery."

For more than thirty years Foley's Money and Tar has been used with satisfaction and success.

Found Dead on Canaan Road

Patrick Brady, 40 years old, who worked at Grantham, N. H. and in this section at one time, was found unconscious Sunday morning, June 26, at 7 o'clock, on the main highway between Canaan and Beecher Falls. Selectmen of the town of Colebrook rushed him to the hospital, where it was found his skull was broken and ribs cracked, appearing that he had been attacked, and run over by an auto. It is said he had a brother in Providence, R. I., and a sister in Hartford, Conn. The two companions that were with him went to Canaan hotel about 1 o'clock in the morning. They reported to the proprietor that there was a man who had been run over, beside the road. They were very much intoxicated. The next morning these men left the hotel before breakfast for parts unknown.

The nearby towns and villages have been searched by a detective and sheriff without any clue. It is believed by the authorities that the two companions who were with him could tell a great deal that would help them.

Obituary

Mrs. Lois Rundlett Flynn

The community was saddened Saturday morning, June 25, to learn that Mrs. Lois Rundlett Flynn had passed to her eternal rest, after about one year's illness. Lingered the last six weeks, after suffering a severe shock. Her age was sixty three years. All that loving hands and human skill could do was of no avail. A husband, Daniel Flynn and five children, four of these were born to her, and her first husband, Gardner Rundlett. Two boys, and two girls, Mrs. Rosanna Finnegan of Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. Harriett M. Buck, of Worcester, Mass., Guy E. of Thompsonville, Conn., and Peter of Island Pond, by her husband who survives, to whom she was married twenty-six years.

Born in Stanstead, Que., Her mother still lives. There are also two brothers, John Worth of Island Pond, Leonard of Pittsburg, Mass., three sisters, Mrs. Hannah Hayes of Groveton, N. H., Mrs. Margaret Bradford of Island Pond and Eva Osgood of Newport. There are nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Henry Flood, assisted by the daughter, Mrs. Buck, were in constant attendance during the last weeks of her suffering. When quite young she was made a member of the Methodist church.

In the hearts of many, who came to know her, there is real grief, along with the immediate family, who miss her sadly. She always had a ready helping hand for those needing assistance.

The funeral was held Monday, June 27th., at the Methodist church, with prayer at the home. Rev. A. A. Mandigo officiated, speaking words of comfort from the 1st verse of the 27th. Psalm, "The Lord is my light, and my Salvation. Whom shall I fear?" The bearers were Charles Johnson, Arthur Danforth, George Reynolds, and Philip Bonneau. Burial was in the Old Protestant cemetery. A profusion of flowers gave evidence of the love and respect given the departed one. H. E. Curtis of Newport was in charge of the funeral.

JUNIORS! ATTENTION!

The Pied Piper is in Town-- Guess Who?

Well, we're not going to tell who he is, but come and join the Pied Piper's P-Raid on Thursday evening, (to-night) June 7, at 6:30 o'clock. There you'll find out who he is. Meet him at the High School where the P-Raid will form; he will then be ready to lead you about town and then finally to the big Chautauqua tent. All Juniors from five to fourteen are requested to join the parade.

Come dressed as Charlie Chaplins, pirates, fairies, tramps, clowns or as other fantastic mysterious people. A free season ticket will be given for the best costume.

But this big parade is only the beginning of a week of fun and instruction in games, stories, folk dancing, pageantry, health talks and lessons in citizenship.

Boy notice particularly: There are no "sissy" games; there will be real boys' games with volley ball and basket ball and stories of pirates, sun and moon gods, etc.

No junior can afford to miss this opportunity. The parade is free, so let us all come out!

Obituary

Wright Danforth

On the morning of Sunday, the twenty-sixth of June, 1921, our beloved and estimable friend, Wright Danforth, passed into the unseen world, at Ludlow, Vermont, in the sixty-fourth year of his age.

He was born in Island Pond, Vt. The son of George and Diresa Danforth. He was buried from the home of Fred E. Boyce in Island Pond in Lake-side cemetery, overlooking the lake he liked so well, on the 25th. of June. His loving friend of many years, the Rev. Thomas Hall, conducting the memorial service. This was attended by a large number of citizens of all classes; by the members of the Ross Encampment, I O O F, Essex Lodge, I O F and the Clyde River Rebekah Lodge of which he was a Charter member. Of each of the above Orders Mr. Danforth was an honored and highly esteemed member.

Mr. Danforth is survived by his wife, Alice T., to whom he was married on Thanksgiving, August, 1882, and by two daughters, Vinnie Boyce of Ludlow, Vt., and Lennie M. Bishop of Fitchburg, Mass. One grandson, Elvin Danforth Boyce, who was named for him three sisters, Mrs. Laura Eickford, Mrs. Sarah Shields, of Groveton, N. H., and Mrs. Ida Pickering of Mansville, Tenn. two brothers, Orlando and Adam of Island Pond.

Mr. Danforth's business ventures were first with his father in extensive lumbering operations till he was twenty-one, when he entered the employ of the Grand Trunk Railroad, where for twenty years he was trusted and respected employee and conductor. In later years he was associated with his son-in-law, L. E. Boyce as Danforth & Boyce, in New York city, and Ludlow, Vt.

Mr. Danforth believed in and practiced the simple life. He took his principal enjoyments in out-door life, among the woods and streams of his boyhood. He was a man who feared God, and loved his fellow men, loved his home and family, was honest in his dealings with others.

He received the holy Sacrament of Baptism at the hands of the pastor of the Congregational church in Ludlow, the Rev. Clifford Smith, shortly before he passed away, in hope of eternal life, through the Savior in whom he trusted.

The flower display was exceptionally large and beautiful testifying the esteem and respect in which he was held by his friends and associates.

We extend to his sorrowing widow and children, his sisters and brothers and all the bereaved, our heartfelt confidence. We pray that the Eternal Father may comfort every one of them.

T. H.

Card of Thanks

OF EVERY RACE AND TONGUE

All Peoples of the Earth Represented In the Millions Seeking Homes In This Country.

Armies equal in size to the one we sent to France land every two years on our shores, and at the present time millions are said to be waiting to enter. Since 1900 more than thirteen million immigrants have entered this country, and approximately one-third of our present population are more than one hundred millions are immigrants or the children of immigrants. Two-thirds of the population of New York state and three-fourths of that of our great cities are foreign born or the children of foreign-born parents. From a fourth to a half of the population of the large cities of the South are negroes. Already we are the most heterogeneous people on earth; here are found representatives of every race and tongue and culture in the world, and all they continue to come in enormous numbers. It is doubtful whether any other migration in the history of mankind compares in magnitude with that which has been converging on America during the past twenty years. The sources and magnitude of this migration are indicated by the following general summary: Of more than thirty million persons in this country who are foreign born or the children of foreign-born parents there are from eight to nine million Germans, four to five million Irish, about three millions from Great Britain, about three million Slavs, from two to three million Scandinavians, more than two million Italians, and about two million Hebrews, while all other races and nations constitute about five millions. Edwin Grant Conklin, in Scribners.

NEW PARISIAN DANCE STEPS

Pleasure Sockers of the French Capital Practice Futurist Movements With Warlike Names.

Paris has something new in dancing. She is introducing no fewer than three futurist dances; the machine gun, the shrapnel and the airplane dance.

A poet of futurist tendencies is the culprit. Being conservative enough to love the waltz and confessionally unimpressed by many happy moments during the last war, he felt that dances will be his lot.

So far we have only read a brief description of one of these measures, the airplane dance, and that simply tells us that the dancers imitate the motions of a monoplane starting on a flight and soaring away.

The shrapnel dance should be easy enough for it is only necessary to turn up at any dancing hall and see people who round one instinctively of a sweeping barrages. There are also plenty of aids to heighten the effect.

What to make of the machine gun dance however puzzles us, for although there are men and even women who can talk as fast as a machine gun firing, we have never seen a dance that was anything like the real thing.

London Tired of Jazz

The "jazz" is dead in London, says P. J. S. Richardson, one of the foremost English authorities on dancing. He declares that no new dances will be popularized this year, but the fox-trot, one-step and tango, which have held international interest for two or three seasons, will be standardized. "Previously those taught the same dances by different teachers found themselves hopelessly at sea when they tried to dance together," he said. "Through standardization on which the majority of dancing instructors in London have now agreed, a common framework to the steps will be insured without eliminating all chance of introducing individual variations. Fresh and eccentric 'flair' gymnastics such as exaggerated forms of 'jazz' are rapidly passing out."

"Seed" With His Ears

Paul Donohoo, blind lawyer and musician, who is in town on a visit from Atlanta, gets around over the city and over the whole United States without any assistance, because he "hears" the walls and every other material obstacle in his path. "I can follow the building line along the sidewalk by sound," he says. "I can hear a tree or post very distinctly. I think it is a sense that every one has, but that one does not develop unless he is blind. I call it sound because I find that when there is an overwhelming noise I cannot do it." Mr. Donohoo walks fearlessly about the streets, turns without hesitation at corners and can even estimate very accurately the width of the sidewalk, always knowing when it becomes wider or narrower.
